

KEEP TRACK OF MEDICATION

Taking multiple prescriptions can get confusing fast.

But a new approach to packaging is taking some of the pain out of keeping track of medications. OnePACs are clear plastic packets with all of the must-have information, such as dosage, printed on each one. The packs are easy to open and help consumers take the right medication at the right time.

It's a clever solution to a common problem: three out of four consumers say they do not always take their medications as directed.

Since onePACs are new to the marketplace, consumers have to ask their pharmacist to provide the packaging. Pharmacists can then check out the new technology, which allows them to automatically and accurately prepare up to 50 multi-dose packages per minute.

To request a sample packet, go to www.myonepac.org or call 888-663-7221. Then take the sample to the pharmacy.
